

PLEASE NOTE THAT PURCHASE OF THIS TICKET SIGNIFIES YOUR AGREEMENT TO THE FOLLOWING:

- Purchase of this ticket and entry to the venue shall be subject to the following Terms & Conditions.
A copy of all statements, directives and the full set of Terms & Conditions can be obtained by writing to the promoter Big Day Out Ltd, a company incorporated in Scotland, registered number SC149997 and having its registered office at PO.Box 25241 Glasgow, G2 5XS.
- The promoter will not be held liable for any loss, injury or damage sustained within the venue except in respect of death or personal injury resulting from the promoter's negligence or where there is any loss or damage to the personal property of the ticketholder at the venue, and this is caused by the negligence of the promoter. In the case of damage to the ticketholder's property caused by the promoter's negligence, the promoter's liability shall be limited to the reasonable cost of either repairing or replacing such property subject to fair wear and tear.
- Ticket holders are advised to check their tickets upon receipt. The ticket is valid for the admission of one person only. If any part of the ticket is removed it may invalidate the ticket, and any person thought reasonably to have a fraudulent or counterfeit ticket will be refused entry to the venue without a refund. This ticket is nontransferable and cannot be re-sold for profit. This ticket is issued subject to the promoter's right to alter or vary the event.
- You may not re-sell or transfer a ticket if prohibited by law. You may not re-sell or transfer a ticket if you are selling or transferring the ticket in the course of business. You are deemed to be selling or transferring in the course of business where we reasonably believe you to be doing so.
- Circumstances where We may consider that a Ticket is being resold in the course of business include:
 - 1) Where a Ticket is sold or advertised for sale for profit (as defined below) through any medium not authorised by Us, including through unauthorised online auction or other websites. Such a sale will be assessed in the light of the factors set out at 2 & 3 below.
 - 2) Where a single Ticket reseller frequently advertises or offers tickets for resale for the same event or multiple events.
 - 3) Where we reasonably consider that a Ticket offered for resale has originally been purchased with the specific intention of offering it for resale for profit and with no intention for the original purchaser or a friend or associate of the purchaser to make use of the Ticket by attending the event.
 - 4) Where we offer an authorised exchange, return or resales facility, a Ticket offered for resale for profit more than fourteen days before the event takes place and through sales channels that have not been authorised by Us will automatically be considered to be a business transaction. Such a sale will be assessed in light of factors set out at 2 & 3 above. If a ticket is offered for resale for profit less than fourteen days before the event takes place then We may determine whether We consider this to be a business transaction by taking other factors into consideration including:
 - a. The number of tickets being offered for sale by the ticket reseller.

- b. Any evidence that You or someone for whom You have bought the ticket can provide regarding the fact that he/she cannot attend the event for genuine reasons.
 - c. Whether a third party business (such as an online auction site or other such ticket resale facilitator) not authorised by Us will benefit financially by way of commission or other fee from facilitating the resale of the ticket, particularly if that financial benefit varies according to the price paid for the resold ticket.
- Re-selling a Ticket for profit means any re-sale that seeks a price that is higher than the face value of the ticket and the relevant booking fee and/or handling fee (if any) that you paid for the Ticket.
- Where a Ticket is offered for resale in line with these terms and conditions, you must provide to the buyer full details of the ticket. Full details include, if printed on the ticket, the block or tier, row and seat number as well as the name of the original supplier and any booking reference number. Buyers must also be made aware of these terms and conditions and any other terms and conditions that are specific to the event. You should check whether any special terms apply before offering a free Ticket for resale. Free tickets are often provided for specific reasons limiting their transferability.
- Ticketholders and/or their property may be subject to search by security staff at any time while on site. Ticketholders may be refused entry or ejected from the venue without refund in certain circumstances.
- All ticket holders consent to any official filming and sound recording as members of the audience and to the use, reproduction, storage and broadcasting of such films and recordings (including any copies made) by the promoter.
- This ticket may not be sold, resold or used for any promotional purposes without the written agreement of the promoter, and the title to this ticket remains with the promoter until payment has been received.
- The use of professional-type cameras and recording equipment is strictly prohibited.
- The festival arena is licensed, and consequently no bottles, cans or other drinks containers can be allowed into the arena, with the exception of unopened plastic bottles of water or empty plastic bottles.
- There are NO pass-outs (i.e. leaving and re-entry to the arena) (except campers-campers pass-out). Any lost or damaged tickets will NOT be replaced in ANY circumstances.
- Tickets and wristbands will not be replaced under any circumstances
- These Terms & Conditions are governed by the laws of Scotland and the Scottish courts have exclusive jurisdiction in the event of dispute.

For Security reasons vehicles may be subject to search before entry to car parks. Access to the event may be refused if there is evidence of car park rules or festival conditions being broken.
Please refer to the travel section on our website.

The ticketholder shall carefully read these Terms and Conditions and observe them.

Be prepared for all weather conditions and bring appropriate clothing.

Warning - Exposure to loud music may cause damage to your hearing.

No food to be brought into the arena

No pushchairs or buggies allowed

Camping equipment not included

PLEASE READ THIS CAREFULLY - This ticket is for the T in the Park Festival and is not specific to one artist. Although festival organisers use their best endeavours to present the bill as advertised, the lineup of artists cannot be guaranteed. Artists do sometimes cancel due to illness or unforeseen circumstances. Should one or more artists be cancelled, the festival will go ahead as normal. Please be aware that refunds will not be given in these circumstances. No money will be refunded or exchanged, unless the event is completely cancelled, when only the face value of the ticket will be refunded.
